Artak a contest almost unparalleled in pehistory of Congressional struggles the Republican Convention which met at St. Cainville on the 21st, adjourned yesterday in the without effecting a nomination. The whole matter is thus referred back to the Republicans of the district for a rehearing, which will involve new primaries and a new convention. The ground is to be all gone over again afresh. This result is very be called upon to record such a failure. However, it is useless to deprecate it at any length. It is one of those things that occa sionally occur in a district where severa leader have their determined followers all beat on victory for themselves or defeat for their rivals. Inasmuch as the matter now comes back to the Republican masses for settlement, we hope that they will see meet without effecting a nomination before adjournment. Let this be part of the in structions at the polls. Let it be understood that the harmony of the party in the district is more than any one man's aspira dropped. This is always the right of the majority as a dernier resort, and, if we mis take not, was asserted at Steubenville for years ago. Oftentimes it is the only process by which nominations can be effected at all and the harmony of the party preserved. It is asking a great deal of the people to request them seemd time to leave their avocations and go to the polls and hold primaries. It is ne small tax upon them, and it ought not to be required, and would not have been asserted its unquestionable right to resolve the centest down finally to a choice between the two strongest candidates.

For the information of our esteemesire to say that the INTELLIGENCER has never said so much as one word to the disparagement of General Beaver, of Pennsylvania, Republican candidate for Governor in that State, and we call upon the Firginian to point to any single word of that the INTELLIGENCER does not yield to the in its admiration for General Beaver. He is an admirable man. He it is who lends strength and dignity to the Cameron ticket it will be Beaver's name and character that will pull it through. There are any number of Republicans in Penasylvania who will be attracted to the support of the ticket because of General Beaver being on it, who would not otherwise support it. All the papers that criticize Cameron's bossism speak respectfully of General Beaver. Even the Philadelphia Times always discriminates between General Beaver and Cameron. They all understand that Cameron relies on Beaver's popularity to overcome his not conceal our sense of the injustice that is done to the safety and success of the Repoblican party in Pennsylvania by the grip of Cameron upon its machinery, yet we do not in any wise hold General Beaver as responsible for Cameronism. The Camronshave tied themselves to Beaver just as Sinhad, when hopelessly lost in the Valley, tiel himself to the leg of the eagle in the hope that it would still be strong enough to wing its flight with such a load, and carry himsafely out of the Valley. The Tax on Denomners.

Rechnord, V.A., June 23.—Judge Robert flephes, of the United States District Court, delivered his opinion this aftermoon in the case involving the constitutionality of the State law imposing a tax on merchants and drummers representing houses outside of the State. The opinion will sustain the State haw. This case has been pending in that court for several weeks, and has attracted considerable attention. Scarcely a day passes but some commercial traveler is arrested for selling yoods by sample card or otherwise, witheat having first obtained a license. The penalty for the violation of the law is a leavy fine or imprisonment. Quite a namber of these cases are pending in different parts of the State, awaiting the ation of Judge Hughes.

Mr. Waldon, of Jefferson, an Updegraft man, also seconded the motion.

An amendment to the motion was offered to the effect that the county delegations select their members of the committee. Mr. Holloway objected to the amendment, but the Chairman stated that he had grave reasons to desire to be relieved from the latty of appointing the committee. He did not care to be more explicit, but he repeated still more significantly that he had reasons for desiring to be relieved from the duty of selecting the members.

Mr. Holloway was suggested as Chairman of the committee, but Mr. Hunt, of St. Clairsville, objected to him on the ground that he was prejudiced and not cool and judicial enough to act. Finally the following committee was selected:

Ifon, L. Danford was next called, and asked what, if anything, he knew of any bribery or attempts at bribery. Mr. Danford said that early in the morning he met Mr. Jones, of the Noble delegation, and they got into conversation on the subject of the convention. Jones declared his determination to vote for Updegraff, at which Mr. Danford expressed surprise, as late in the previous day Jones had told him nothing could induce him to change from Taylor to Updegraff. After some further conversation, Mr. Danford asked him why he did not hold off awhile and see if there would not be a break. To this Jones replied: "I can't do if, Captain, I have got Updegraff's money down in my clothes now." Private." Datage was next seasons.

"Private" Daizell was next summoned, and testified that he did not know of any actual bribery, but that Jones had told him he could get "big money" for his vote whenever he was ready to accept it.

She left a note which reads as follows:

"The curse of God is upon me. Years ngo I uttered a sentence that was long ago forgotten, until the other week when it came upon me like a clap of thunder. My children know nothing but to quarrel. They cannot be governed at all. The light of love has gone out of their eyes. Poor of love has gone out of their eyes. Poor Jim goes to work every day and thinks he is at work, but I know he is no man to come in from his work. Some one will care for him for it is not his fault. He is what he is. If I can I will put myself and children out of the way this night. I would give the whole world to take back the awlal words. None wasever so wicked as I have been. He was always good and kind to me, but the last few weeks his love is dead. Our home was a happy one in the years gone by. I am lost forever. God only knows why I have said that awful thing. I have suffered a burning can. thing. I have suffered a burning con-science for weeks."

"THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS." "THE QUEEN OF TABLE WATERS."

"For water drinkers it is of the utmost importance to have at command a table water of the highest type of purity, agreeable in flavour, exhilarating by reason of its sparkling effervescence, and suitable for daily use as a table laxury; and in home circles, as at public banquets, the APOLLINARIS NATURAL MINERAL WATER has established itself in public and professional favour as possessing these qualities, and I believe its introduction may be recommended and supported as of great value to the cause of temperance and good health."
